

STANFORD

Go Red for Women

Heart Health Event
Thursday, February 15, 2007

Stanford Hospital & Clinics, Women's Health @ Stanford, and the Cardiovascular Institute invite you to join Stanford's Go Red Celebration during National Heart Month. Heart disease is the number one killer of women, taking the lives of over half a million women every year. The Go Red for Women campaign's mission is to educate and create awareness regarding women and heart disease, enabling women to live stronger, longer lives. Lectures begin at 6:30pm and will cover multiple topics on cardiovascular disease.

FEATURED SPEAKERS:

- Hannah Valentine, MD ▪ "Women and Heart Disease from Multiple Perspectives"
Jennifer Tremmel, MD ▪ "Advanced Techniques for Detecting Ischemic Heart Disease in Women"
Sharon Hunt, MD ▪ "Changing Hearts: Heart Transplants Across Genders—Implications and Outcomes"
Marlene Rabinovitch, MD ▪ "Why Are Female Blood Vessels So Vulnerable?"

Thursday, February 15, 2007 ▪ 6:00–8:30pm
Fairchild Auditorium at Stanford University Medical Center
Campus Drive ▪ Stanford CA 94305

Health information tables will be exhibiting in the lobby prior to the start of the lectures.
For more information, call (650) 725-0455 or email jlrogers@stanford.edu

